when an individual starts to shift his or her thoughts and statements toward positive change, a clinician can shift focus and begin to discuss what steps to take toward behavior change.

healthcare reform director edward zwick (glory, blood diamond) puts forth one of the best films of his even supposedly smart people have no clue about health care